

In an effort to highlight Kettering University's diverse population, multicultural representatives on Kettering Student Government, Sumit Kamboj and Bi Zan Valery Lorou, successfully pursued an initiative to display the flags of all the countries representative of Kettering's student body. Sharing their cultures with the Kettering community are students from 29 different countries who carry love and nostalgia for the homeland they left behind. The flag display reinforces the fusion of diversity and unites Kettering University's student body as one family.
